

Borg achieves high utilization by combining efficient admission control and machine sharing with process-level performance isolation.